Instructional Methods

The Family Law course incorporates a variety of teaching methods designed to prepare you to successfully meet identified course objectives. Various methods are used to enhance the learning process including lectures and class discussions. You will be assessed through assignments, tests, and a course project. The course project allows you to apply many of the concepts learned in the course to prepare a separation agreement in a form used in your jurisdiction. You should include your project in the Paralegal Student Portfolio that you have been developing throughout the Paralegal Studies program. All course activities and assignments are designed to help prepare you to address situations and perform tasks commonly encountered in a family law practice.
